Mission and objectives

UN Women, grounded in the vision of equality enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations, works for the elimination of discrimination against women and girls; the empowerment of women; and the achievement of equality between women and men as partners and beneficiaries of development, human rights, humanitarian action and peace and security.

To support evidence-based policymaking and advocacy, UN Women develops and disseminates a range of regional and country-level knowledge products, including SDG Gender Snapshots, research studies on femicide, violence against women data products, policy briefs, and other thematic publications. These products rely on robust analysis of gender data and evidence to identify trends, monitor progress, and highlight persistent gaps affecting women and girls across Europe and Central Asia.

Context

UN Women ECARO seeks an Online UN Volunteer on Gender Data Analysis to support the compilation, analysis and interpretation of gender data and evidence from multiple data sources. A particular area of support during the assignment will be the preparation of data and evidence for UN Women's regional 16 Days of Activism against Gender-Based Violence campaign, that illustrates gaps between the prevalence of violence against women, reporting to authorities, investigations, prosecutions and justice outcomes across Europe and Central Asia.
The Volunteer will work under the guidance of the Regional Gender Statistics Specialist to help strengthen evidence generation and support the preparation of data-driven knowledge products and advocacy materials.
